Most key decisions are made by councillors who sit on a range of committees.

Our meetings are generally open to the public and held at our offices in Borehamwood. Our executive and full council meetings are also broadcast live via the internet so you can watch from the comfort of your own home.

Building security

In common with many other public buildings, the Civic Offices in Borehamwood has a number of security measures in place to ensure our staff, elected members and visitors are protected. Those attending public meetings here at the Civic Offices will be required to sign in at reception and will be escorted to and from the council chamber or relevant committee room by a member of our staff. CCTV is in operation at the Civic Offices.
