New Mayor welcomed

The borough's mayoral chains have been passed on to Councillor Richard Butler.

Cllr Butler takes over the role as Mayor of Hertsmere from Cllr Chris Myers and was inaugurated at our annual meeting in May. The new Deputy Mayor, Cllr Parveen Rani, was also welcomed.

During his time as Mayor, Cllr Myers raised money to support ADD-vance – The ADHD and Autism Trust, and The Albert Kennedy Trust. He said: "It has been an absolute honour to serve as the Mayor of Hertsmere over the past year and I wish the new Mayor, Cllr Richard Butler, every success in the role."

Cllr Butler is looking forward to his year during which he will be raising money to support Hatzola, the volunteer ambulance service, and CALM (Campaign Against Living Miserably).

Mayor Cllr Butler is being supported by the Mayoress, Donna Butler, whilst Deputy Mayor Cllr Rani's Deputy Escort is Tushar Kumar.

Progress flag raised with Pride

The Pride Progress flag flew outside our Civic Offices in Borehamwood throughout June to mark Pride month and send a clear message of support to Hertsmere's LGBTQ+ community.

Joining the Mayor to raise the flag were our staff, councillors and colleagues from the NHS, Hertfordshire Constabulary, Herts Fire and Rescue Service, Communities 1st, Hertfordshire Partnership Foundation Trust Rainbow Network and Herts Pride.

We are sponsoring Herts Pride in August and will have a stall in the wellbeing tent to speak to residents and LGBTQ+ members of the community about our services.

Welcome

Welcome to the summer edition of Hertsmere News.

As we mark the 50th anniversary of the borough's creation this year, we thought it was fitting to feature one of Hertsmere's longest-serving members of staff.

Paul Sawyer, Head of Environmental Health, Licensing and Resilience, has worked for the council for just over 40 years, joining us straight from university back in 1984. On page 11 we've included a feature about his role and the vital contribution his team plays in protecting our quality of life across Hertsmere.

Four Community Enforcement Officers are joining Paul's team this summer and we're delighted to welcome them as we launch this innovative new initiative. Two of the team, Baris Bulut and Adel Kovacs, are pictured on our front cover.

This scheme is being delivered in direct response to concerns expressed by local residents and businesses about anti-social behaviour and environmental crime. These new officers will respond and enforce on these problems as required. Look out for their distinctive red uniforms on your streets in the coming months.

On page five we include a round-up of the recent wide-ranging consultation on our Draft Local Plan. We're hugely grateful for your active involvement in this important process by either registering your views or attending one of our in-person engagement sessions across the borough. Our Planning team is now working through all the comments sent in and we will keep you updated on the next stages of the process.

There's a round-up of other news inside this edition, including a focus on outdoor cultural, sporting and wellbeing activities for the summer months.

I hope you find this edition an informative read and wish you and your families an enjoyable summer.

Sustainable families

A prestigious award for WasteAware's 'Herts Sustainable Families' discount scheme has underlined our commitment to sustainability and environmental change.

The discount, offered as part of the county's Waste Partnership, has been highly commended in the Best Local Authority Recycling Initiative category at the prestigious Awards for Excellence in Recycling & Waste Management.

The trio of schemes within the Herts Sustainable Families banner encourage residents to choose reusable items instead of single-use products by offering a 15 per cent discount on reusable nappies, sustainable period products and washable incontinence products.

Local Plan round-up

More than 2,000 people responded directly to our wide-ranging consultation on the proposed vision for Hertsmere, with a similar number responding through template-style websites.

Residents were encouraged to provide their comments to help decide the strategy and vision for Hertsmere for the next decade and beyond.

The Draft Local Plan consultation focused on a number of key areas, notably housing and employment site allocations, and the revisions that have been made since the previous consultation in 2021.

These revisions include a 40 per cent reduction in the amount of Green Belt being released and 9,400 new homes to meet the borough's housing need – a fall of 22 per cent from the previous Draft Local Plan.

As part of the consultation, we talked to many residents at the seven public engagement events held across the borough, which residents from neighbouring boroughs were welcome to attend, in April and May. An estimated 1,100 people came along to the events.

All responses will be closely reviewed before a proposed final Local Plan for up until 2040 is submitted for public examination, at which stage it will be assessed by an independent inspector.

There will be another opportunity to comment on that plan, ahead of the examination in public, with responses being submitted to the inspector at the same time as the proposed Local Plan.

Heroes of Hertsmere celebrated

Inspiring heroes have been recognised for their devotion and positive contributions to the local community at the Mayor of Hertsmere's Civic Awards Ceremony.

At a remarkable ceremony, then-Mayor, Cllr Chris Myers, presented 10 awards to worthy winners from across the borough.

Among the individuals recognised for their hard work and contribution to society were charity founders, volunteers and community campaigners. Additionally, the Youth Civic Award was awarded to Watford Ocean Warriors, a group of inspirational students who completed an impressive channel swim and raised over £11,300 for Rennie Grove Peace Hospice.

A special 50th Anniversary Community Award was presented to Alan Murphy, a volunteer at the RAF Air Cadets, who is an inspirational role model to the cadets and supports community events to help various charities.

A Longest-serving Employee Award was presented to Sharon Richards, who has worked for the council since 1982, showing outstanding commitment.

Lastly, the Dave Rankin Award for community safety was presented to Zoe Crossan, Community Safety Co-ordinator for the Hertsmere and Welwyn Hatfield District at Hertfordshire Fire and Rescue Service, who has gone the extra mile to make Hertsmere a healthier, happier and safer place in which to live, work and visit, while making the fire service more accessible to all and ensuring diversity is celebrated.

Inclusive dance

Para Dance UK, overseen by Communities 1st, provides inclusive dance sessions across the country for those who would otherwise be excluded.

They offer accessible and enjoyable dance sessions aimed at individuals in the community, including special programmes for schools and care homes.

They aim to foster vibrant dance communities or 'families' across the UK that reflect their mission of spreading dance, joy and connection.

They provide comprehensive Inclusive Dance Training (IDT) for anyone wanting to run or be involved with Inclusive Dance sessions. It is suitable for a wide range of people involved with both dance and disabled people; such as dance teachers wanting to open their services to all abilities, sports groups and those involved with them, and people with a focus on disability and the care environment.

A limited number of fully funded courses (worth £650) are available to those who live or work in Hertfordshire (a deposit is required). Once you complete the IDT course, not only can you run your own dance sessions, but you will receive six months of affiliate membership for free.

Grants to mark Hertsmere's half-century

To mark Hertsmere's 50th anniversary, organisations were able to apply for small grants of up to £750 to support community events, small capital projects or for new equipment for local groups.

We approved 46 applications, totalling just over £30,500. The grant allocations were funded by the government through the UK Shared Prosperity Fund.

Alongside the grant applications, the Hertsmere Community Lottery also celebrated the anniversary by running an additional prize draw. In June, four local organisations won £250 by being registered as a good cause on the lottery.

You can find out more about the Hertsmere Community Lottery at: hertsmerecommunitylottery.co.uk

The Leader of the Council, Cllr Jeremy Newmark, has also appointed a member champion to help deliver the anniversary celebrations. Cllr Marc Amron, elected member for Bushey Park ward, will work with other members, organisations and council staff to deliver an anniversary that is unique, vibrant and diverse.

Stay in touch with us for more updates on how you can get involved with the celebrations.

Meet the Team

Q&A

WITH HEAD OF ENVIRONMENTAL HEALTH, LICENSING AND RESILIENCE

We spoke to Paul Sawyer, Head of Environmental Health, Licensing and Resilience, about his wide-reaching role as he prepares to launch Community Enforcement Officers in Hertsmere.

Q Tell us a bit about your role?

A It's a very diverse and varied role, but the common factor is improving and maintaining the health of our communities. No day is ever the same, as my role oversees a wide range of themes from environmental protection including air quality, contamination and pollution; commercial inspections of food premises; licensing of taxis, entertainment and animals, through to leading on resilience and emergency planning for the borough and council.

I am fortunate to have a team of skilled experts in their field who provide a first-class service to our residents and local businesses.

Q How did you reach this senior position?

A This month marks my 40th anniversary of working at Hertsmere, having started as an Environmental Health Officer straight out of university, where I studied Environmental Science at the University of Salford.

The role has evolved over the years to encompass tighter inspection regimes, greater processes and increased duties and legislation to protect both our environment and our residents.

The health and wellbeing of our people and environment is at the centre of our work, which affects all communities across the borough.

Q What are your aims for your department?

A Environmental Health encompasses a wide-range of legal obligations and comprehensive legislation, but as a team we hope to go over and above just enforcement to provide support and advice to businesses and communities to ensure they fulfil their responsibilities.

We offer training courses and educational support across our service, which can all be found on our website: hertsmere.gov.uk/EnvironmentalHealth

Q Tell us about some key projects you are involved in at the moment?

A A key priority for me is setting up our new Community Enforcement Team, who will prioritise the improvement of the environment of the borough and the safety of people who live, work and commute to and through it.

A team of four officers will be focusing on areas where residents have raised concerns about anti-social behaviour and environmental crime, and their role includes:

- Patrolling the borough to engage, educate and enforce.
- Providing support to members of the public and businesses when on patrol.
- Responding to reports of anti-social behaviour and environmental crime, such as flytipping.

Our Community Enforcement Team not only provides reassurance to residents but also take action when needed.

Q Tell us something about yourself that people might not know.

A I recently attended the Royal Garden Party at Buckingham Palace in recognition of being one of the longest-serving council employees.

Economic development

Can your business inspire?

We're working with Hertfordshire Careers Hub on the next 'Generation Hertsmeres' event, to be held on Wednesday 6 November at the Double Tree Hilton in Borehamwood.

Contact us if you'd like to have your businesses represented!

Having trouble recruiting trained people?

The Hertsmeres Skills Board aims to address this issue by understanding the training opportunities in the borough; improving links between local government, the Department of Work and Pensions (DWP) and local colleges; providing training opportunities and understanding the barriers people face getting into employment.

If your business has a skills shortage or you are out of work, but would like to upskill to suit local business needs, get in contact.

Businesses in Borehamwood – come together

The first Borehamwood Town Centre Partnership took place in March with 45 businesses attending.

The partnership was set up to improve the town centre, by bringing together a range of stakeholders and businesses with a shared vision.

Effective partnerships can bring significant rewards, including increased footfall; greater stability; self-confidence; communications; commitment and capacity.

We want to hear from local businesses about their experiences working within Borehamwood town centre to establish more collaborative management between the local authority and retailers.

MPAA takes up residency

An industry-led performing arts academy has taken up a new tenancy at the former Bushey Country Club site, which we own.

The then-Mayor of Hertsmere, Cllr Chris Myers, was on hand to help with the curtain-raising of the MPAA performing arts academy centre, which offers a BA (Hons) Musical Theatre Performance Degree with outstanding longer-term employment results.

The former mayor saw for himself some of the training the academy offers and had an opportunity to speak to several of the students about their career aspirations.

MPAA has agreed the tenancy with us, enabling optimum use of the site while the longer-term future of the asset continues to be developed and an exciting use of the accommodation as a hub to further boost the borough's commitment to the performing arts.
